For his bravery and courage, was named thousands of followers for an advance upon this city from the Transjordan frontier.

News of the Sultan's preparations on the heels of reports that Arab troops along the way, and Syria were already moving toward Jerusalem, engaged western British troops along the way.

In the raid of the tribesmen on Haifa several Jewish homes were looted and burned and a farm run by a Jewish settler was burned.

A part of the Rumanian Jewish settlement on the plain of Acre was also swept by flames.

Misaph, near Tiberias, was twice attacked during the day and 20th, a Jewish settlement noted for its splendor and honey, sacked by a raiding horde.

The old fort at Acre, scene of many historical battles, was used by the Jews in repelling the attack on the city.

All members of the Jewish party under convoy were said to have been wounded and the Arab village near Kastania was burned in reprisal.

Additional details of the recent history of Jew Palestine have been received here today. They include terrible stories of butchery by the Arabs. During the fighting, which lasted two hours and resulted in the death of many Jews, a large number of children were wantonly attacked and wounded.

Britain Pledges Aid to Jews in Palestine

London, Aug. 29 (AP)—British Jews were heartened today by the expressed attitude of the British government with reference to a future policy in Palestine.

Dr. Chaim Weizmann, president of the World Zionist Organization, after a conference with Lord Passfield, Secretary for the Colonies, told the Zionist executive today that the British government in Palestine had been made him.

The first was that the British government would stand by the promises in the Balfour declaration to establish a national home for the Jews in Palestine with greater vigor than before.

The second was that the British government would make in the future a more active part in the Jewish life and property loss during the last turbulent week in the Holy Land.

Zepp Folk Thrilled by Chicago Greeting

By HUBERT WILKINS Famous explorer who crossed the Atlantic aboard the Graf Zeppelin from Friedrichshafen, and is writing the story of the Hunsen-Zeppelin Round-World Flight.

Chicago, Aug. 29.—The Graf Zeppelin, which landed at the city's airport today, was greeted by a crowd of thousands of people. The ship was met by a band and a large number of people.

Abroad Graf Zeppelin, Aug. 29.—There was no trouble for those aboard the Graf Zeppelin when it landed at the city's airport today.

Then out of the haze we saw the ship, a large, white, rigid, towering building, and a most amazing sight.

The first alumnus to join the order was Rev. Louis A. Robert, who was crowned a few weeks ago by the order.

The best arrangement for this purpose has not yet been determined, but several promising methods are being investigated. An installation has been made at College Park, Md., to test their practicability.

A co-operative program has also been undertaken with the Guggenheim Fund for the Promotion of Aeronautics in developing methods of landing in a fog. At Mitchell Field where the Graf Zeppelin is being kept, a real type visual indicator has been developed by the bureau which is intended to keep the pilot from the dangers of a blind flight.

ECGNER TAKES

Only Woman Aboard Zepp on World Tour "Happy to Be Back in U. S."

Lakehurst, N. J., Aug. 29 (INS)—One of the greatest radio hookups ever attempted was affected by the National Broadcasting Co. to broadcast the arrival of the Graf Zeppelin here today, with the voice of the principal passenger.

It enabled all the United States, Europe and possibly Asia to hear a first-hand account of the dirigible's return from her journey around the world. Microphones were placed all over the ship and at other points of vantage around the field, so that no incident attending the Graf's arrival would be missed.

Harry Eckener, commander of the air liner, sent his greetings in German to his native land. Lady Hay in a brief radio speech said this trip was wonderful and that she was very happy to be back in America.

Lady Hay wore a rubber coat with a black hat and had her arms filled with presents. She was frequently mistaken by the crowds for Lady Hay.

Dr. Eckener announced in an interview that the airship would be used for medical purposes and Saturday under command of Capt. Ernst Lehman.

Dr. Eckener would stay behind for about two weeks and visit President Hoover in Washington and go to Akron, O., on business. It was understood he will advise the Zeppelin Goodwill Co.

Dr. Eckener will not be active directly, and expect to command the Graf Zeppelin on important trips, he said.

"Whether the round-the-world flight of the Graf Zeppelin will be a success I shall leave to the public," he said.

Today, which was repaired eight hours and we had a narrow escape, perhaps, as I am sure, when we missed some high voltage wires. I believe I am sure in saying that there was no serious hazards during our entire trip.

"I am deeply moved by the cordiality of the reception given by the whole American nation, and we feel deeply grateful."

Dr. Eckener, who was particularly impressive in San Francisco, and Los Angeles will never be forgotten. Also, as we flew over Chicago where we were most cordially received, we have experienced before in my life.

"But most of all, I am grateful for the cordiality of the reception given by the U. S. Government and Navy Department."

"I am very happy at the intense interest shown by the people of the United States in the Graf Zeppelin. Two years ago the interest was not so strong, and not so many people were interested in the ship. I believe it will pave the way for the development of lighter-than-air machines. GREATEST THRILL WAS SIGHT OF GOLDEN GATE, SAYS WEIGAND

ONE ACCIDENT MARKED TRIP AROUND GLOBE

Famous Writer Tells of Record Flight Made by "Sky-larkers" in Zeppelin

EXCLUSIVE

By KARL H. VON WEIGAND
World-Renowned Newspaper Correspondent, Who Crossed the Atlantic Aboard the Graf Zeppelin On Its First Transatlantic Cruise, and Who is Writing the Story of the Hearst-Zeppelin Round-the-World Flight.

Cincinnati, 1928. In United States and at other countries except Continental Europe by King Features Syndicate, Inc. as part of its syndicated service. Copyright, 1929, in Japan, its entire and exclusive right reserved.

Lakehurst, Aug. 29.—At 6:07 Eastern standard time this morning the Graf Zeppelin completed the Hearst-Zeppelin round the world flight from the Statue of Liberty and returned in 21 days, 5 hours and 23 minutes.

The Graf-landed at 7:13 a. m. (18:13 E. S. T.), making the run across the United States from Mines Field, the Los Angeles municipal airport, where it departed, in 21 days, 5 hours and 23 minutes. It was 7:53 (E. S. T.) when the first glimpse of the Zeppelin was seen from the top of the big gar here. The air was a little murky and they could not see it very far, and at 7:55 we were directly over the field. We dropped our landing lines at 8:07 and in six minutes we were safely landed. We have ended our record-breaking circumnavigation of the globe, a trip which set many of the fastest air records ever made of the future to shant.

NEW AIR RECORDS
The Graf Zeppelin set a new record for crossing the Atlantic; a new record from Europe (Friedrichshafen) to Japan (Yokohama) for crossing the Pacific Ocean, and clipped more than a day. The fastest air record ever made around the world.

New York to the Lizard, at Land's End, 24 hours and 42 minutes; New York to Paris, 24 hours; Berlin to Tokyo, 30 hours and 40 minutes. We crossed two oceans and three continents.

We conquered the Pacific, flying from Tokyo to San Francisco in 65 hours and 10 minutes.

Thus we set many new records for the "sky-larkers" of the air. It all we had but one little accident. That was in leaving the ship dock at Kuanmiguara air field, Japan. Our total delay for repairs was only 16 hours, but it was in the dock in Japan for a further 19 hours.

On the 24 days, 5 hours and 23 minutes we were on our way four days were spent in Friedrichshafen, three and three-quarters in Japan and 19 hours in Los Angeles. Our actual flying time about 13 days and 6 hours.

GREATEST THRILL
Perhaps the greatest thrill of the journey was when, after our arduous crossing of the Pacific, we sailed through the Golden Gate to the beautiful city of San Francisco. Since we arrived in California the trip has been a triumphal procession.

The Graf Zeppelin, Commander Eckener tells me, he will probably leave Lakehurst for Friedrichshafen on Sunday morning in command of Capt. Lehmann, while the commandeer himself will probably remain here for 10 days or so. This, however, has not been definitely decided upon.

Commander Eckener firmly declined to accept the plans of the New York committee for a big banquet and parade with ceremonies to honor him and his great achievement. He greatly appreciates the desire of New York to celebrate the achievement of the Graf Zeppelin and to do me honor, but I feel that a big hour has already been done for me. I have marveled.

GOING TO OHIO
"Los Angeles honored me at a wonderful banquet given by Mr. Hearst, whose generous support made this flight possible. I feel that it would indeed have been a lot of good taste on my part to let myself continue to be celebrated and honored in this fashion and I am confident that my attitude will be understood by all concerned.

"Moreover, pressing business compels me to go to Akron and I must stop for a few hours in Washington to personally thank the Secretary of the Navy for the splendid cooperation of the United States Navy in this great undertaking."

History-Making Moments in the Swift Flight of the Graf Zeppelin 'Round the World

Hardly less historic than the arrival of Commodore Perry, opening up Japan to the outside world, was the coming of the Graf Zeppelin to the thousands of Japanese who greeted the dirigible from the housetops of Tokio on the completion of the second leg of the Hearst-Zeppelin-round-the-world flight. (I. N. R. photo.)

loud cheering and welcome that we have received in the entire world flight.

"Fascinating—marvelous," said Commander Eckener to me as we stood on the bridge and studied the city from above. "Such a tremendously enthusiastic greeting we have not received anywhere."

It seemed to us that Chicago was bedlam of frenzied shouts and whistles never before came up to us anywhere, while a perfect sea of waving handkerchiefs and hats with a snowstorm of paper from the roofs to the streets black with humanity, made a wonderful picture.

On the last leg of the last lap of the Graf Zeppelin's world flight we reached the shore of Lake Michigan last night and soared over America's second largest city.

SPECIAL PROGRAMS
Compared to Tuesday over the Great Southwest, our journey over Missouri, up the Iowa side of the Mississippi river to Davenport and across the prairie of Illinois was a smooth and peaceful ride.

It was a little after 8:30 yesterday morning when we flew over Kansas City, and for a time we encountered headwinds that slowed us down, but still we kept from 70 to 80 miles an hour in our progress across the grain belt.

Reaching the Mississippi at Burlington, Ia., about 1:30 p. m., we followed "The Father of Waters" up past Muscatine to Rock Island where Dr. Eckener flew his airship over as the tri-city industrial zone comprising Davenport, Rock Island and Moline.

From there we started directly across Illinois, following the line of the Chicago & Northwestern railway by way of Burlington, De Kalb and Wheaton into the suburbs of Chicago from the north side.

All Chicago seemed to have quit their track and turned out to witness the passing overhead of the airship just winding up its circle around the world. When we reached the metropolis of Lake Michigan we dropped from 2000 feet down to a few hundred feet so the millions of Chicagoans could get a better view of us and so that we could see the city ourselves to better advantage.

The Graf Zeppelin, Commander Eckener tells me, he will probably leave Lakehurst for Friedrichshafen on Sunday morning in command of Capt. Lehmann, while the commandeer himself will probably remain here for 10 days or so. This, however, has not been definitely decided upon.

The shuttle arrived over the Cleveland airport shortly before midnight, and Lester, Newton Long-fellow, refueling pilot, first began lowering out. Two of four cars had been placed aboard the shuttle, and the third was being lowered when the fourth can slipped through the opening in the fuselage of the refueling plane. It struck the center section of the shuttle's top wing, broke a span and landed on the fuselage just forward of the cockpit. The wing was not damaged seriously, Eaker said.

The shuttle had taken mail from Oakland, Cal., to New York, and was making the fifth attempt of the flight when the accident occurred.

The flight, in which the United States postoffice department and army officials co-operated, was made to determine the feasibility of long distance flights by mail by the "Zeppelin Aircraft Company."

Lucky Bucks Beckon to 'Plum' Seekers

By WON LUCKY BILL.

Six more names were added yesterday to my long list of Boston American readers who have picked up some of that E-Z money which I have been putting out for the last two months in the great game of finding lucky old $1 bills.

This is the best way in the world of getting money without any effort. And hundreds of persons have stuck their fingers in the pie and pulled out the plums. There still is plenty of those old $1 bills out for you to find. They're everywhere that the Boston Evening American is read. And I add 16 lucky bills to each day's list. They're worth a total of $160.

The grand total of today's list is $900. I ask you to get a share of it by bringing me those lucky bucks which have serial numbers corresponding with the numbers in the list.

I pay on all lucky bucks within one week from the date of the first publication of the serial number in the Boston Evening American.

The Only Budget Plan with Strictly Cash Prices

The Bond Ten Payment Service

We know of no retail clothing in this country who is today presenting a service to equal this.

Budget Plans there are in abundance—but not one, have we found, based on a former strictly cash business. Invariably there is a background of expensive old-time charge account methods—with naturally expensive old-time prices, that have not been changed.

Bond prices haven't been changed either! But Bond prices—for the past 16 years—have been cash prices (and the sensible thrifty economies of a cash business certainly need no introduction).

We counted on the public demand for Budget Buying to maintain these firmly established prices—and in 14 months Bond Ten Payment Service has almost doubled our sales.

So it happens, that Bond stands entirely alone in the presentation of Fine Clothes priced on a cash basis—and sold on deferred payments.

DAVIS CLOSES MIDWAY AT THE WEIRS

The Weirs, N. H., Aug. 28.—State wide criticism of gambling on the midway of the New Hampshire veterans' encampment here resulted in shutting down of all the "jungle boards" and other games of chance by order of Atty-Gen. Ralph W. Davis, this afternoon.

Eastern Yacht Club Gives Last Dance of the Season Tonight

WITH THE END OF THE summer season in sight, society is crowding all the good times possible into the few days remaining before Labor Day.

At the Eastern Yacht Club tonight, the last dance of the season is to be given by the Eastern Yacht Club this evening when the harbor will be illuminated in connection with the tercentenary celebration of Marblehead. Practically the entire younger set of the North Shore will attend this brilliant event. Another set is equally interested in the ball being given at the Myopia Hunt Club tomorrow evening. The York Harbor colony is looking forward to the annual "mystery" dance on Saturday evening, always a large and brilliant event and closing the season there.

MISS ELEONORA BEARS and her guests, Miss Isabel Peil of New York, Miss Adelle Ryan of New York and Miss Kitty Wilkinson of Washington, are among the 24 guests who will be entertained at dinner before the Myopia Club dance tomorrow evening by Mr. A. Lynde Goodrich at her Hamilton home. Others who will attend are Mr. and Mrs. Quincy Adams Shaw, 2nd, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Choate Edwards, Mrs. John Shaw, Dudley Pickman, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Steiner, Jr., and Harry Parker.

THE MANCHESTER YACHT CLUB is to be the scene of another interesting ball on September 4, when the young people of the North Shore will gather for a final fling before returning to town to prepare for college or coming out parties scheduled for early October. Mrs. Wallace Goodrich is on the committee for this affair. One of the early debuts to be made by Miss Edith Gray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Gray of Commonwealth ave. and Marion, who will make her bow on November 8 at a tea dance at the Clifton Club. Miss Gray is the sister of Mr. Henry Godfrey, Jr. (Marie Louise Gray), whose wedding was an important social event of June.

BROOKWOOD FARMS, THE home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Burrage in Beverly Farms, will be the scene of "La Grande Whoopie," a cabaret entertainment, to be given by 15 couples of sub-beds of the summer colony on the evening of September 13.

Miss Rosamond Holton chalking down the scores of the women tennis players at the Longwood national tennis doubles tournament. A large gallery of society is following the matches with great interest.

on the evening of September 13. Among the features already planned is a dance number by Miss Betty Pope, called the "how down," which was one of the successful numbers on the program of the Bragazzi revue last May. Miss Rose Whitman is to entertain with songs, and others are to give exhibition dances and comedy plays. A dance will be held following the entertainment.

A LARGE GALLERY OF SOCIETY turned out this morning for the Wightman Cup team tennis matches in which Miss Sarah Palfrey is defending her laurels at Longwood national doubles tournament. Miss Palfrey and Mrs. George Wightman are playing against Mrs. J. Dallas Corbier and Mrs. William Endicott. Miss Marjorie Morrill is also on the courts for the contest with the English team. During the matches Miss Ellen Roddett and her brother, William Endicott, 2nd, are visiting with their cousin, Miss Katharine Sears at Weston.

MRS. H. PARKER KEMBLE, as chairman of the "Old House Day" committee in Marblehead yesterday, welcomed hundreds of visitors at her home, the old Lee mansion. Mrs. Kem-

ABLE received her visitors in a quiet gown of the same period as the date of the house, the early 1700's and answered hundreds of questions relating to its history. Her mother and daughter of great interest to many was that of Miss Eleanor Chapman. The Fortunes, built in 1780, with its large paneled rooms and exposed beams, its detailed old-fashioned gardens around the homes of Mrs. W. J. Goldsmith, Mrs. Frank G. Hale, Mrs. Everett S. Fane and Mrs. Herman Parker also were open and were much admired. All of the hostesses were descendants of the early settlers of Marblehead.

MISS BEATRICE LOMB Weds C. F. Grant. Announcement was made of the recent marriage of Miss Beatrice M. Lomb, assistant librarian at the Public Library in Manchester, N. H., to Clayton F. Grant of Wintonport, Me., on the staff of the Western Electric Company at Pittsburgh, Penn.

The wedding was at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Lomb of Cottage St., Meriden. The couple will reside at Pittsburgh.

With this ultimate purpose in view, North leads the two of Spades as the initial step toward stripping his own hand and burning out the return a heart. Declarer winning with the Dummy's Ace, and leading a Spade for a ruff. Declarer puts Dummy in with a Trump and leads another Spade and their repeats thus clearing the hand of Spades. North then completes the planned stripping of his own hand and Dummy by throwing the lead with his remaining heart, thus forcing his adversary to lead either a Diamond or a suit upon which a losing Diamond can be discarded from one hand and a trump played from the other. Declarer thus avoids the loss of any Diamond trick and makes game at Clubs.

A Lesson Parents have learned about School Shoes

One of the earliest discoveries of parenthood is that young feet are amazingly destructive of shoes. The next (and far more important) is that improperly fitted shoes can have an equally distressing effect upon young feet.

But modern mothers know that the solution of this school problem is easy. Many of them began wearing Coward Shoes in their own school days—and know that Coward Shoes are properly built and skillfully fitted to guide young feet into healthy, normal growth. Furthermore, these shoes are so well made that they staunchly resist the onslaught of youth... making them far the most economical shoe a parent can buy.

LAUNCH PROBE INTO POWER ACTIVITIES

Washington, Aug. 28 (AP)—Prospects of a widespread inquiry by the Senate into the activities of the power industry as well as into all forms of corruption is foreseen in the terms of a resolution adopted by the Senate shortly before adjournment last June.

The resolution authorizes the committee to inquire into "the transmission of power by wire or wireless." On the basis of the authority Chairman Coughlin is contemplating a thorough-going investigation.

While it is not his intention to go over the field recently covered by the Federal Trade Commission in its study of the financial operations of the public utility power interests, he is considering having hearings with a view to preparing legislation to meet the situation in the Trade Commission inquiry.

Senator Coughlin contemplates calling the committee together about the middle of next month.

Power Combine Buys Lowell Gas Company

Lowell, Aug. 28.—It is understood that a controlling interest in the Lowell Gas Light Co. has been sold to the American Commonwealth Power Corporation, although officials of the local concern would go no further than admitting negotiations were underway.

The American Commonwealth Power Corp. is a significant company with ramifications throughout the country. It is buying into the Lowell Gas Light Co. It has acquired control of the National Gas and Power Corporation, serving large middle western communities.

Manager Everett Boothby of the local plant said negotiations were under way. The Lowell Gas Light Co. was founded in 1850 and serves this city and suburbs. Boston syndicates has controlled its destinies in recent years.

Braintree, Vt., Aug. 28.—Gas rates proposed by the Vermont Gas and Electric Co. to go into effect in September, will have to be suspended or the company will have to furnish a bond that it will reimburse gas patrons for a rebate is ordered, according to a notice served by the public service commission.

Manager W. E. Richardson of the Braintree division of the company said that while he could not definitely say, it was his expectation that the company would put the rates into effect as planned and furnish whatever bond was required.

Puts Closing of 3000 Saloons Up to U. S.

New York, N. Y., Aug. 29 (INS)—Commissioner Grover A. Whalen today is adamant in his stand that the work of closing New York's 3000 saloons, rest solely with the federal government. With the return of several hundred complaints which he had received from Maurice Campbell, prohibition administrator, Whalen sent a letter explaining his viewpoint.

He said that while prohibition agents were charged only with enforcement of the national prohibition act, police officers had a large number of duties, of which detecting violators of the nuisance act was only one. He also outlined that federal men could stop nuisance violations just as well as city policemen.

PEGGY JOYCE IS NOW RECLUSE

By BARON GEORGE WRANGLER (Copyright, 1928, by Universal Service, Inc.)

Cap Dail, France, Aug. 28.—Peggy Hopkins Joyce has retired from public life.

Of all the schemes for publicity that Peggy has ever tried, this one has succeeded in arousing more talk than anything she has ever done.

Inciting the "perfect American girl," she has abandoned night life, swimming in the local casinos and appearing on the beach in daring bathing suits.

Peggy has reformed, and she wants the world to know it. She spends her mornings bathing in front of her new villa, Du Petit Chien Blue, which, reports say, was the parting gift of a New York banker. Her afternoons she devotes to improving her mind, reading the classics at a Genoa library. Then, physically and mentally fatigued, she retires early.

When asked the truth of the rumor she intended to draw Viceroy's horses into matrimony, Peggy replied:

"Nonsense! I have no such intentions, and I do not know Viceroy. I have heard, though, that he is married—which is a pity!"

Peggy is still unable to resist her flair for the unlight, and insisted that in three or four weeks she might again figure prominently in the social chatter of the continentals.

Ex-Mayor of Fall River Dies at 74

Fall River, Aug. 28.—John W. Cummings, former State senator and thrice mayor of Fall River, died at his home two days after his 74th birthday.

Born in Spockport, England, Mr. Cummings came early to America and was educated in the public schools of Fall River and Providence, R. I. He was admitted to the bar in 1876 and only two years later, at the age of 23, elected to the State Legislature. He served in 1878 and 1879.

In 1883 he went to the State Senate and at the conclusion of his term was elected mayor. He was re-elected just as she was taking off from the airport and she gave him his answer that night by telephone from the first derby stop.

His engagement to Miss Elder was announced last week while she was participating in the women's air derby from Santa Monica, Cal., to Cleveland. He proposed just as she was taking off from the airport and she gave him his answer that night by telephone from the first derby stop.

He was a delegate to the Massachusetts Constitutional Convention in 1917, 1918 and 1919.

PASSENGER IS TRANSFERRED IN MID-AIR

Cleveland, Aug. 28 (AP)—Moored overnight to a stub mast at Cleveland airport, the Navy dirigible Los Angeles was pointed to a return cruise to join the Great Zeppepinn at Lakhurst, N. J. today, after the completion of the first time transfer of a passenger to an airplane while in flight.

The maneuver was performed before 100,000 spectators at the national air races. Lieut. A. W. Johnston of the Navy fastened a harness stretched between two uprights on the top wing of the plane to a hook attached to a ladder of metal girders lowered from the keel of the Los Angeles.

TRANSFERS TO PLANE
Lieut. Calvin Porter of the Los Angeles crew descended to the plane. The airplane was disengaged and was landed under its own power while the Los Angeles continued in flight above the airport.

During the day two cross-country derbies arrived, there were demonstrations of mimic warfare by Army and Navy pursuit planes, and bombers, the largest glider contest ever staged in the United States was held, and Col. Charles A. Lindbergh again stunted for the spectators.

FLAG VOYAGERS LEAVE FOR EUROPE

By FLOYD F. WILLIAMSON
Depart of Flag Champions on Round World Trip

Cairo, Egypt, Aug. 29. It was a happy party of flag champions that arrived here after a glorious two weeks cruise across the Indian Ocean and the Red Sea. Three young Americans have been royally feted and received at every port since we left San Francisco just two months ago, and they are carrying the responsibility of representing the boys and girls of America to a manner that would do credit to messengers of friendship and goodwill many years their senior.

On every hand they are being welcomed and complimented by high officials of the nations visited, and they are leaving a trail of impressions behind them of which the people of America may well be proud.

Now they have visited the site of the world's most ancient civilization. They rode out to the Sphinx and Pyramids on camel back and saw the crypt in which the Holy Family hid when driven from Palestine. They also visited the oldest Christian church in Egypt. Among some of the other exceedingly interesting places visited by the flag champions in Egypt were the Mohammedan Mosque and the Island in the Nile where Khufu was found hidden in the bulrushes.

Today we leave from Alexandria for a month in Europe and from the experience of the trip thus far it is safe to predict that these four American youngsters will receive ovations and applause in Europe such as have never before been showered upon a party of boys and girls from any nation.

Sometimes, several months ago called this trip around the world "The Dream Trip of One's Life." It is difficult to find a better description. Each day unfolds new wonders before the eyes of these flag contest winners, and in addition to the natural glories of the world, they are received everywhere by a manner usually accorded international heroes. The comment of government officials regarding the flag champions is invariably to the effect that if these youngsters typify the youth of America then Americans need not be apprehensive of the future of their country.

These boys and girls will have a message to bring back to the children of America, a quarter of a million of whom took part with them in the first annual flag contest of the United States Flag Association, that will read like a page from the Arabian Nights.

Fearing Arrest, Boy Puts Gems in Pond

New Britain, Ct., Aug. 29.—Police learned that the three diamonds, valued at $3000, stolen from the dressing room of Florence Vernon, New York actress, while she was on the stage of the Grand Theater here, three weeks ago, are at the bottom of a pond at Stanley Quarter Park.

John Wase, 15, brother of one of the boys accused of stealing the jewels, is said to have told the police that he took the jewels from his brother and, becoming fearful he would be arrested, placed them in an envelope and dropped them into the pond.

Pick New Bedford for Youth Survey

New Bedford, Aug. 29.—New Bedford was chosen as one of America's 37 typical cities for a nationwide survey by the United States Children's Bureau in Washington. It was the only city in New England used in the survey.

The bureau filed its findings with welfare organizations in this city. The bureau has decided that a campaign of education for parents is one of the first steps that must be taken to solve the problem presented by the modern youth.

MARBLEHEAD OPEN HOUSE IS ATTRACTION

Thousands Visit Town on North Shore Where Tercentenary Is Observed

Between 35,000 and 50,000 persons are daily crowding the ancient town of Marblehead to get a glimpse of the past.

Things modernistic were shunned and from dusty trunks, chests and highboys were brought forth the garments of yesteryear. Women and children donned the costumes in the spirit of the event.

And all in commemoration of the settlement of Marblehead in 1629. Visitors found many things unchanged despite the passage of three centuries.

The Lee Mansion, 1766; the Shaw House, 1773; the Folio Mansion, 1723; the Parson Holyoke House, 1723; the Truett House, 1730; the Major Patrick House, 1756; the Gerry House, 1740; the Parson Barnard House, 1714; the Samuel Brown House, 1733; the Peter Jayne House, 1724—all buzzed with life again, the life of 1629—all resounded once more with the footsteps of moderns garbed in the dress of 300 years ago, as open houses for neighbor and traveler prevailed again.

At the beautiful Lee Mansion, thrice the age of the oldest inhabitant of Marblehead, a group of comely dames, wearing the costume of the old Puritans, smiled a cheery "hello" to visitors, and showed them through the glorious old structure to which ancient folk from all over the country thousands of people.

The Shaw House, whose columns were placed in position three years before the "shot heard round the world" was fired, reopened its doors and radiated once more the cozy and welcoming spirit which made it one of the town's famous homes.

Here, too, women and girls wearing the costumes of the great-grandmothers of this city and the victor to make him comfortable. To all the early and historic houses, many of which are still in perfect condition, flocked the thousands that came here to participate in the great tercentenary.

EAST BOSTON FIGHTS GAS STORAGE PLANT

State Gas Tax Estimated at $10 Each Car

THE ROMANCE of the sea clings to Boston Bay as the family fortunes now invested in huge industrial enterprises, in fabulously valuable real estate, and in monumental finance, had their beginnings in the savings of clipper ships out of Boston Harbor and other old New England ports.

FOUNDING the town was a casual adventure for the Yankee mariner, and it was no uncommon thing for the head of a shipowning family to ship the black sheep of the family before the mast. In this manner, many a second fortune of even more colossal proportions, took root on the West Coast. In many an instance, the lad who was a source of worry to his parents in the environment of the city, found his fortune in the vital enterprise of the Golden Gate. San Francisco has many an old-time family that sprang from sturdy New England stock.

AS OFTEN AS NOT, the Yankee seafarer turned trader ashore on the coast. He bartered tools and food and clothing for gold and land and forests. Vast acreages slowly accumulated, and the very heart of the nation's wealth in process of development.

WITH the passing of pioneer folks, the beleaguering generations looked inward and became curious as to the doings of their first and second and third cousins in Massachusetts. Family ties were drawn taut, and a close bond of common social interest was established. Nowadays, San Francisco and Santa Barbara are just around the corner from us, and there's a continual hobnobbing back and forth.

BOSTON "ancestral roots" to use the charming expression of a certain dignified townsmen, are not so definitely severed with the social vegetation of Southern California. The Los Angeles San Diego region, of orange blossoms and Kilgus lights, has enticed prosperous corn growers and cattle barons from Iowa, Minnesota and Illinois, rather than the commercially minded easterner. To the midwest farmer, the lovely climate of Southern California offers the allure of a paradise for his years of retirement in delightful relief from the bleak winds of a prairie winter.

AMONG prominent Bostonians who have a keen fondness for white-washed ships, Allan Brewster, president of the Fruit Co., finds himself in a conspicuous place. The walls of his office and of the outer bank are literally lined with a collection of old prints, sketches, paintings and photographs of New England clipper ships, barques, whalers and barkentines. Most of the vessels have been famous in the whaling history, and Brewster is making prodigious records of speed or in surviving hair-raising adventures.

MANY Bostonians can still remember the famous old ship yards of the Mystic river town, Medford. Ship building commenced there 20 years after the founding of Medford, and was carried on up to about 60 years ago. The yards were famous especially for the barques, which were launched there.

FOR those who would get a man's ship, and who would want the spicy odor of cedar and oak and the pungency of tar and oakum, a run down to Essex is well rewarded. Usually there is a fair-sized hull in process of building, with grapefruit being laid over the main road. You turn a bend of the road and drop a century away from today.

ESSEX ship-building has held a steady pace from early New England days, and during the war it was found that the shipyard still there, although huge ribs with mighty swinging arms and a jolting massive beam, were with sure precision, into great cargo carriers.

THE craft of ship modeling is a lively business in the modest. One of the finest pieces produced in years is a five-foot clipper model built by James W. Land of Dorchester. It is a product of five years of patient work, and every spar and line is scaled, stained, and boomed, even the rigging is made to scale, and so to microscopic perfection. It is a mighty love of the sea that creates such perfect service.

CRACKS IN TIGHT GAS STORAGE

East Boston Residents Protest Against Permit for Huge Project

Property owners and residents of East Boston, were aroused today over an application for a permit to store more than 20,000,000 gallons of gasoline, kerosene and other petroleum products at Sargeants and Boardman streets. The application was filed with the street commissioners by the Boston Port Development Co.

Vigorous opposition will be voiced at a public hearing relative to the permit, to be held September 15, at City Hall. Presently, the City Council will act on the City Council will lead the opposition.

The real estate promoters who are behind this project are revealing a consumer's nerve in requesting permission to start the largest oil tank farm in the city, particularly in the vicinity of the Orient Heights "playground," President Donovan declared.

"The playground has been set apart by the city so that children in the nearby dwelling houses and schools might have an opportunity to play in safety."

"It would ruin East Boston, hundreds of residents would immediately move out of the district. But new interests unwilling to pay higher premiums to the fire insurance companies would be forced to stay around the corner from us, and there's a continual hobnobbing back and forth."

The application asks that the company be allowed to store 1,800,000 barrels of petroleum products in vapor tight, steel tanks above the ground.

There would be 52,000 barrels of fuel oil, 50,000 barrels of gasoline, 75,000 barrels of kerosene and 25,000 barrels of aviation gasoline, with an average of 50 gallons to a barrel.

The application contained the signature of C. H. Gifford, treasurer of the Boston Port Development Co. of 1 Court st., Boston.

Other signers were: Joseph LaBelle, Pietro Caruso and Geymair A. Jackson, all of Sargeants st.; Giuseppe Vachio, Joseph Silva, Peter S. Domenico, Giuseppe Vachio, and Anthony Vincente, all of Boardman st.; and the Auditor at side is the Maverick Mills.

Backs Out of Window in Driving Lesson

Because Lewis Stone, of Blue Hill ave., insisted on taking driving lessons and practicing inside a garage at 974 Blue Hill ave., Harold Kala, 14, of Woodrow ave., Mattapan, was badly cut to rest the face and arms, and a large, 15-foot plate glass window was shattered to bits, when the car got behind control and plunged through the window to the street.

The Kala boy, passing the garage at the time, was covered with shattered glass and narrowly escaped being run down by the runaway car.

Stone was practicing backing and starting, directly in front of a large show-window. The machine got out of his control and started on a wild run.

Seeing the predicament of the driver, Raymond John W. Dorian, trapped on the running board and jammed on the emergency brake. He was not in time, however, to prevent the car from crashing through the window.

Lathers on Hospital Declare Strike

A further delay on the construction of the Consumptive Hospital at Mattapan became inevitable when a force of 22 lathers were ordered on strike, the result of a jurisdictional dispute with the carpenters.

For some few weeks the work in question, claimed by the carpenters as "metal iron," and by the lathers as "corner iron," has been in dispute between the two trades, each claiming that it came under its jurisdiction.

Hundreds Held Up as Trolley Wire Snaps

Traffic over the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway lines from Revere and Chelsea into Boston was tied up for 25 minutes during the rush hour today when a trolley wire broke at Chelsea and Medford streets, Charlestown.

Hundreds of inbound passengers were delayed, and there was a jurisdictional dispute with the carpenters.

FISHERMAN IS STABBED BY SWORDFISH

Taken to Hub Hospital After Battle With Fish That Rams His Dory

As a result of a terrific battle with a swordfish, which rammed its sword through a dory and into his leg, Edward Welzow, a fisherman on the schooner Vasco Da Gama, at Haymarket Square Relief Hospital for treatment.

The fisherman was removed to the hospital today upon arrival of the schooner which tied up to Boston Pier with 104 fish.

Welzow's back was also injured in the thrilling fight to subdue the fish. More than an hour was consumed before he hauled the fish into the dory.

After the fish had been harpooned and was apparently dead, Welzow began to haul the line in. The cable between the water with out resistance until it reached a point 20 feet from the dory and then it made a swift lunge and rammed its sword through the under side of the bow, where Welzow was standing.

The attack was an sudden that Welzow did not have time enough to get out of the way. As the sharp sword tipped the dory open, it struck Welzow's right leg, tearing through his rubber boot and protruding the flesh. The fish then withdrew the sword. It was regulated after further fighting.

Welzow collapsed in the boat after the struggle ended. Shipmates observing his predicament went to his assistance and he was taken aboard the schooner with the 150-pound swordfish that had caused his injuries.

Punished by Dad, Boy, 15, Flees Home

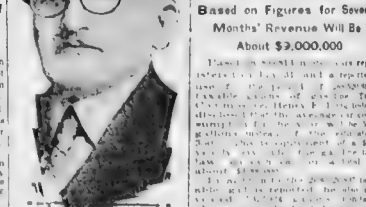

After being punished by his father, according to his mother, Irving M. Kallio, 15, of Washington street, Mattapan, ran away from home. Kallio has appealed to the Boston Evening American to help in locating him.

The boy is known to be aboard the Boston-bound train Sunday. He is 5 feet 3 inches tall and weighs about 115 pounds. He was dressed in grey trousers and a white sweat shirt. He has a scar across his forehead and wears a hair cut very short.

The late William A. Shea, former mayor of Salem, whose widow is being sued for $21,000 insurance by his estate, which claims she used undue influence to effect their marriage.

Underwood charges that the then Mrs. Bridget G. Shea, widow of the former mayor, used undue influence to effect their marriage.

He also charged that Shea was habitually under the influence of intoxicating liquor in the last years of his life and not competent to make his own affairs.

HEARING HUSBAND'S TALK, WOMAN TURNS GUN ON HIM

POLICEMAN ALSO TARGET FOR SHOTS

Mattapan Woman Held for Drunkenness, Assault; Aim Proves Faulty

After firing a shot from a .32 caliber revolver at her 77-year-old husband, and then firing two more at a policeman from the Mattapan station who came to the aged woman's assistance, Mrs. Mary Ruppersberg, 46, of Haven ave., Mattapan, was arrested on a charge of drunkenness and assault with a dangerous weapon. All three shots missed their marks.

Questioned as to why she had fired at her husband, Mrs. Ruppersberg stated, police said, that she "got sick and tired of hearing him talking."

"This is not the first time I've been under fire," said Fred Ruppersberg, the woman's husband. "But it is the first time a woman ever tried it, and I hope it'll be the last."

According to Ruppersberg, who is a veteran of the Indian and Spanish-American wars, his wife had been drinking. When he attempted to remonstrate with her she left the room, returning later, he said with a revolver.

"I'll do what I please without any talk from you," she declared, according to her husband, and then followed her remark by firing at him.

Ruppersberg succeeded in opening the bathroom window, and shouting out. He went to neighbor's house and telephoned the police.

Patrolman Edward Gallagher approached the kitchen door, Mrs. Ruppersberg ran out screaming. "I'll kill you, too," she fired two shots at the patrolman.

Cambridge Kiddies in Colorful Pageant Bid Farewell to Season of Play

Hundreds of Cambridge children, boys and girls, participated in the exercises on Russell Field, North Cambridge, marking the close of the summer playgrounds in the University City. Races, novelty games and calisthenic drills were included in the colorful program. Here we have a group of boys making a strong finish in one of the dashes.

PUBLIC HEARING FOR MEMORIAL SUGGESTIONS

State Commission Appeals for Aid in Study of War Monuments

The Massachusetts war memorial commission, created by the Legislature on recommendation of Governor Allen, held its first meeting at the State House, and organized with Col. William H. Eaton of Pittsfield as chairman.

The commission voted to make an extensive study of war memorials in other states and in foreign countries, as well as in the various municipalities of Massachusetts. It is issuing a statewide appeal for suggestions from all persons who are interested in the subject. The next public hearing will be held in the State House at 2 o'clock, Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 15.

Close cooperation is expected by the commission from organizations as the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, the Grand Army of the Republic, the Spanish War Veterans and their auxiliaries, to the end that some plan can be recommended to the Legislature. The next meeting will have as nearly as possible the unanimous backing of veterans of all ages.

Massachusetts, it was brought out, is one of only two or three states which has not erected some war memorial. To the end that it is the only state which has never erected a memorial to its veterans at other wars. For this reason the commission is anxious that there be no further delay in paying the tribute of the state to those of her sons who served her in time of war.

Two 14-year-old North Beverly boys, according to the police, confessed to Patrolman William Deaton to breaking into the summer home of Asst. Postmaster Herbert L. Hanson of Boston, located in Dodge at North Beverly and stealing $40 worth of tools.

For some time tools have been missing from Mr. Hanson's tool house located in the rear of his home. Officer Deaton was assigned to the case and by clever detective work succeeded in locating the boys. He said they admitted they stole the tools and were planning to sell them to a man who got money to go on a vacation trip.

TRAFFIC LIGHTS FOR B. & A.

Traffic signal lights and a uniformed policeman are now on duty at the Massachusetts ave. grade crossing of the Grand Junction branch of the Boston & Albany railroad in Cambridge, where for years gates have guarded the tracks.

There is not a grade crossing east of the Hudson river guarded in this manner, and its use is based on the assumption that the public is now educated to obey traffic lights. The policeman sees the lights.

The lights are of the standard white, green and red, vertically mounted variety used by the city of Cambridge. When a train approaches the policeman on duty sets the traffic lights to yellow and green for a space of five seconds, after which the lights automatically display red until the train is entirely clear of the crossing.

STOWN COMING IN FIVE DAYS IS HUB MAJORAL SCRABBLE

"GATES" MUST GET OFF THE FENCE

Will Have to Reveal Plans When Time Comes for Taking Out Papers

The position of the three men prominently mentioned as possible opponents of former Mayor James M. Curley in the coming majority election on November 6 will be made known Tuesday, his data set by the board of election commissioners for the issuance of nomination papers.

Chairman Francis E. Slattery of the schoolhouse commission, former Fire Commissioner Theodore A. Glynn and Richard J. Lane of the finance commission will on that date reveal their candidacy or their choice in the fight against Curley.

All three candidates are said to be confident of the support of the Good Government Association in the event that their statements next week are to the effect that they have tossed their hats into the ring for a fight that promises to be one of the hottest and closest staged in Boston during the last decade.

When asked about his relations with the former mayor Glynn remarked that he has not spoken with the former mayor for the past 3 1/2 years, but that he is in the distance but on few occasions when they both appeared at a dinner.

Commissioner Lane admitted his acquaintance with Curley and the city have been seeking his approval to have his candidacy announced. These persons, the former member of the school committee also admitted, have promised him enough financial backing to make his race.

Wife Sues Butcher to Film Notables

Ralph C. Shepherd of Hollywood, Cal., said to be Mary Pickford's butcher, as well as exclusive dispenser of choice provisions to a lot of other notables, has been sued for a divorce in Middlesex probate court by Maybelle Shepherd of Newton, who charges him with cruel and abusive treatment and neglect to provide.

Mrs. Shepherd says they were married December 13, 1923, at Gloucester, and that the offenses charged were committed in Gloucester and Boston. Shepherd was formerly a provision dealer in Gloucester and Brookline. Will Rogers is also understood to be one of his customers. The suit is returnable at East Cambridge September 23.

She's a Cigar Expert

Margaret Finnegan, 19, expert binder-layer in the Alles & Fisher cigar factory, is a speed marvel at her workbench. In one day she handles enough breadfruit binders for 4000 cigars. (Staff photo.)

Dorchester Girl Has Speed With Weed

If every smoker realized that delicate and deft feminine fingers had played a large part in the making of his favorite cigar, he might be a little less vicious in biting off the end and treating the "weed" with more respect.

Margaret Finnegan, 19, of Hoveston st., Dorchester, knows more about the factors that enter into the manufacture of the productive perfect than do most of the smokers of the particular brand in which she works.

Day after day she sits at her machine and feeds into its ravenous maw the broadest tobacco that makes the binder for the Havana filling. How many miles of the best tobacco, if each weed were placed end to end, passed through her nimble fingers in a single day has not been computed, but her daily average is enough for 4000 fragrant cigars.

Only an expert in this line of work could make such a showing, as each of the 750 fellow-workers of Margaret at the Alles & Fisher factory will readily agree. It is constantly selecting a perfect weed, stretching it evenly with the fingers with the grain pointing in a certain direction before placing it on the shaping die of the machine.

Margaret does this with precision and speed as the die cuts the leaf to the right shape and passes the binder along to be filled. In addition she must control the machine movements with her right foot and time the pressure to a second.

When these operations are continued through an entire work day, one wonders how the efficiency and speed of the operator is maintained. Her concentration and skill for one's work are important contributing factors.

Margaret took up binder laying after leaving high school and, according to Benjamin Berenson, superintendent of the plant, she is now a finished expert and a valuable asset in the business. In addition, she is esteemed by all her work companions for her quiet and unobtrusive disposition.

When questioned about her remarkable ability, she modestly downplayed the distinction and declared that she had been hundreds of other girls in the factory equally proficient in its work.

Hub Passenger Thought Slain HURLED IN SEA

Mystery Revealed When Liner Reaches Boston: Police Seek Identity

Severely accompanied a radio gram message sent out early today from the radio compass station at Bethany, Del., and relayed by the Naval Communications Office, Charleston, to Boston police headquarters, regarding the body of a man believed to have been a murder victim, on Delaware beach. The message announced that the State police of Delaware had found the body of a man who was drowned and thrown overboard from the Steamship Ontario of the Merchants and Miners Line bound from Boston to Philadelphia, on Aug. 25.

The message also gave the following description of the dead man: five feet, 10 inches, weight 190 pounds.

When found the man had a bullet wound in his right temple caused by a .45 caliber bullet. No revolver has been found and the police were ordered to turn the body over to the city mortuary at Dover, Del.

Upon receiving the message, Capt. J. J. Watkins, night officer in charge, at Boston police headquarters immediately contacted the Harbor police to investigate.

It was revealed at the Merchants and Miners line offices today that Captain Murphy of the Ontario on his last trip to Boston on his arrival here Monday made out a report to the effect that a passenger was missing on Sunday en route to Boston. With the steward he went to the ship's deck to find the missing man, and found it empty.

He had a small bag on which was a note addressed to Captain Murphy, the contents of which in dejected words in this letter is now in the possession of the officials of W. Smith.

The Boston police are anxious to learn the identity of the dead man, for it is now believed that he is a resident of this city or some city in New England.

FTZ THINKS LABOR SHY OF LUXURY

Says Prosperity Too One-Sided and Mentions Own Candidacy

When asked about getting the share of American prosperity, according to ex-Mayor John F. Fitzgerald, who announced a meeting in Chicago, Illinois, and declared that he would be elected to high office, he would give his chief attention to the problem of the child labor movement.

The speaker, who is a disinterested observer, said that the child labor movement is a very real and serious problem, and that it is one of the most important factors in the financial health of the country.

WHO says the sun-tan vogue is new in Boston? Not a bit of it. The violet ray addicts were so fond of their daily dose of sunshine in 1927 that they even invested on roofless horse cars. Elaborate paintings ornamented the vehicle, which was used only in fine weather. Another photo in the Old Boston

MAN RIVYON Says—

Kearns-Hayes Row "the Boloney"
Plenty of Italian Fighters Around
Loughran Made Lots of Money
N. Y. Commission Forgets Own Rules

I SECRETLY THINK

—the alleged row between Jack Kearns and Teddy Hayes is a phony boloney, because Hayes is around making matches for Kearns' fighters.

—Max West could out-shimmy Bee Palmer, though the latter got the most fame out of that shiver-and-shake thing years ago.

—watching blokes like Kid Chocolate and Al Singer in training is about as thrilling as watching the grass grow.

—if Singer doesn't stop Chocolate inside of five rounds, the Cuban stove lid will win.

—if he doesn't do one of a million things that young blokes do to hobble themselves, Al Fay, of Cleveland, Pa., will have something to say about the heavyweight title.

—there are more Italian heavyweights around right now than ever before in the history of the Romans, with Vittorio Campolo, Primo Camera, John Grosso, Salvatore Ruggiero, Riccardo Bertazzolo, Roberto Roberti, Primo Tvalde, Lou Barba, and scores of others, some native born, others imported.

—ninety-nine per cent of the blokes who put the blast on Hollywood were a bust out there.

—That Oklahoma heavyweight, Babe Hunt, isn't the hitter he ought to be for his size if he can't flatten the likes of George Cook, of Australia.

—the guy who said imitation is the sincerest flattery was probably trying to alibi some idea larceny of his own.

—the reformers ain't done right by the business men of Philadelphia, where things are pretty doggone quiet just now.

—there haven't been so many busted guys around Broadway since Hickory Slim was a two-year-old.

SYMPATHY WASTED ON TOMMY

—a lot of sympathy is wasted on the pugilistic trials and tribulations of Tommy Loughran when you figure he has made more money the past couple of years than any other gladiator in the racket.

—the New York boxing commission is winking at its rule that guys under 21 can't fight 10 rounds in the Empire State when it lets George Hoffman and Kid Chocolate go that route, because neither of them is over 20.

—that joints affected by the literati generally have terrible grub.

—the last thing in the world I'm going to get excited about is the flyweight championship.

—the defeat of Thomas Heeney by Vittorio Campolo pushes Mr. James J. Tunney, formerly Gene, back several notches in the reckoning of time on his pugilistic ability, as Thomas was in far better condition when he got flattened by Campolo than he was when Mr. Tunney stopped him.

—the guy who shot those kids in New Jersey for stealing his corn may not be the meanest man in the world, but he will do unto the meanest man comes along.

—tennis is a dreary pastime to peer at, and the only woman player that had any real color was Suzanne Lenglen, the peacock of France.

—The Lackawanna is the first railroad to show any sense when it announces that smoking will be permitted in its dining cars.

GIVE LIPTON CUP, SAVE TRIAL BOTHK

—we ought to give Sir Tom Lipton that cup and avoid the monotony of the yacht trials, than which there is nothing monotonous.

—a yachting expert is the only expert who can conduct himself so expertly as to make it appear that there is really something in experting after all.

—the pessimists who say football interest is waning haven't heard that there isn't a stadium in the land that will accommodate one-half the clients who want to get in for the big games.

—gals with bum knees shouldn't wear very short dresses.

—Hack Wilson will hit three home runs in the world's series if Hack Wilson gets in the world's series.

—the Black Uhlans of the Rhine, Herr Max Schmelling, wouldn't go more than three rounds with Vittorio Campolo right now.

—we would have better fights if there was no such thing as a foul and the gladiators were properly armored and permitted to hit each other all over.

—The gamest fistic exhibition I ever saw was when Jack Dempsey was knocked plumb out of the ring by Louis Angel Firpo and climbed back in to flatten his man.

BOSTON GIRLS AND BIG BILL STAR IN TITLE CHASE AT LONGWOOD

MARJORIE MORRILL

Helen Picks Sarah as Next Net Queen

HELEN WILLS, ordinarily silent and opposed to interviews, broke her silence at the close of the national singles and announced a question that has been asked for the past two years, namely: "Whom do you regard as your most likely successor?"

"Sarah Palfrey," Helen immediately replied. But it wasn't an answer given on the spur of the moment, possibly to shake off the interviewer. Queen Helen has had plenty of time to plan an answer. And when she does speak she always has something worth saying.

Helen ought to know. She's the best woman tennis player the world has ever known and there's nothing concerning the sport that Miss Wills is not acquainted with. She has as reputation as a prophet, and these Palfrey predictions may all go wrong.

SARAH PALFREY'S recent climb to national recognition, however, isn't just a sudden flare. The fire has been smoldering for some five or six years. Her tennis ability is based on a solid foundation of a half-dozen years' study and practice.

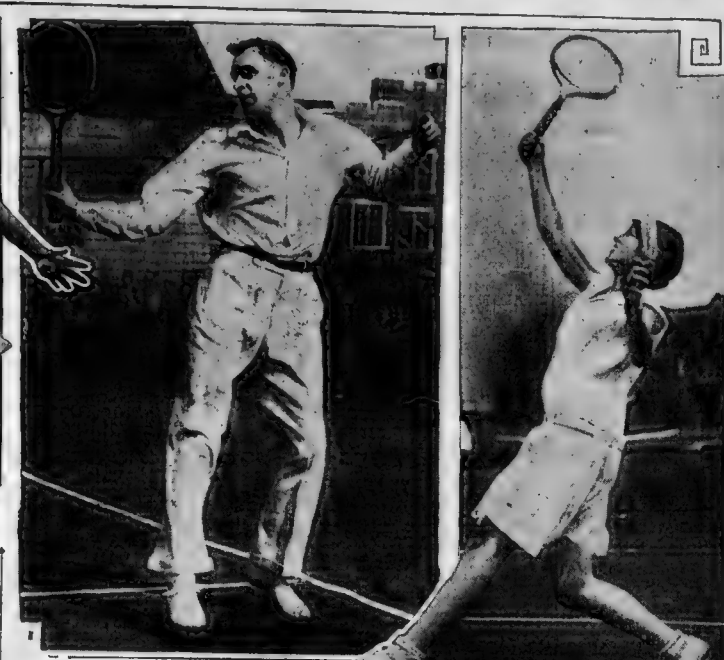

Sarah has the two fundamentals of a champion, fitness of foot and tennis instinct. They're not inherent, for her father, John G. Palfrey, a Boston lawyer, and her mother were once over-interested in the game.

Living in Brookline, close by the Longwood courts, Sarah was attracted at an early age by tennis. She was the fourth of a family of six children and all of them developed a liking for the game by watching the stars of 10 or 15 years ago.

It was only a short while before the four older Palfrey sisters, Margaret (Polly) Elizabeth (Lee), Marnie and Sarah, were themselves playing at Longwood. Marnie, now 14, developed faster than the others and was the best in the family until two years ago when Sarah won her first victory over Marnie, and proceeded to become the family title-holder.

SARAH soon advanced to the championship class. She won the state singles and the national girls' singles. Two weeks ago she was victorious in one of the biggest tournaments in the East, participated in the Eastern Grass courts championship.

When Sarah gets the power in her stroking is a wonder. She weighs 115 pounds and is only 5 ft. 5 inches tall. Stature is her only handicap at present. If she

ENS SUCCEEDS DODGE DUSH

Pittsburgh, Aug. 29.—Jewel Ens, little known coach, was named acting manager of the team after Pres. Barney Dreyfus of the Pittsburgh club had accepted Bush's resignation.

Dreyfus intimated he would resign as manager next season if the Buccaners made a good showing the remainder of the 1929 race.

Bush, returning to Pittsburgh from a disastrous Eastern trip during which his charges lost 12 out of 17 games, submitted his resignation soon after his arrival. No reason for the action was advanced by either Bush or Dreyfus. Bush said he "simply desired to quit" and that no ill-feelings existed, either with the players or the owner.

During Bush's three-year managerial reign, the Pirates won a National League flag and never failed to cross the line in the money.

The diminutive skipper came to Pittsburgh from the management of the Indianapolis American Association club, and stepped into shoes of Bill McKelvie, present St. Louis Cardinal leader, who left the Pirates after the Adams-Big-Barry blowup.

Jones Shoots 70 at Pebble Beach

De Monte, Cal., Aug. 29.—(INS)—Amateur golfers practicing over the Pebble Beach course had a new course record of 70 to shoot at today in their preparations for the coming national amateur championship.

For Bobby Jones, national amateur and open champion, blazed his way around the revised course yesterday in 70, two strokes under the record. Jones was out in 35 and back in 35. Five birdies were included in his score which helped make up for the three times he slipped over par.

BRAVES-PHILS HERE TODAY

Boston's Braves, fresh from a barnstorming vacation trip of baseball games and banquets, will open in their final series of this stay at home this afternoon with the Phillies.

Three games in all will be played, one each afternoon, including Saturday.

The fans will not have the benefit of any outside help for the rest of a single game, but will be able to see a real battle in each skirmish. The cellar championship will be at stake, as usual.

Annually the Braves and Phillies meet in a late summer engagement that decides the inverted championship of the National League. The winner of this series will be able to breathe a bit more freely, as the bugaboo of the cellar occupancy will be averted, temporarily at least.

The Braves are fully rested and ready for the fray. Judge Philip's team have not seen professional and minor league teams in the short vacation.

The chances are that Bob Smith, one of the local heroes, will pitch against the invaders.

Tilden-Hunter Team in Semifinals

WILLIAM T. TILDEN, 2nd, and Francis Hunter will meet George Lott and John Hope Doeg, while Wilbur F. Coen, Jr., and Harris Coggeshall clash with Berkeley Bell and Lewis White in the semifinal matches of the 48th national doubles championship at the Longwood Cricket Club, Chestnut Hill, today.

The Tilden-Hunter vs. Doeg-Lott battle was expected before the tournament got under way. But the seeded teams in the other half of the draw were entirely cleared out. Van Ryn and Allison, seeded on top, were crushed by Bell and White yesterday while Mercer and Hall, fourth seeded team, was dropped from the title hunt by Coen and Coggeshall on Tuesday.

That youth will prevail seems to be emphasized by the semifinal bracketing at the Longwood courts. With the exception of Tilden and Hunter, the other semifinalists are all under 25 while five of them are still collegians.

Bell, of Austin, Texas, and Texas University, is national collegiate singles champion. Doeg is a student at Stanford University. Harris Coggeshall, Stanford Grinnell, Lott is still listed in the roles of Chicago University.

It can be learned upon scrutinizing the lists that America is gifted with a flock of fast improving tennis youngsters. Court followers find the semifinals more than a little interesting for the youths who are expected to bring the Davis Cup back to America are playing in them.

selected foreign team of John O'Neil and Herbert Austin, thereby spoiling all of John Bull's chances of winning a national crown.

Mr. Bill Tilden, who found Cohn and is now his tutor, says that Junior is soon to be the best man in the nation. Some have been derisive about Bill's remark, for it is only proper that he should be his own promoter. But, after watching Junior playing this week at Longwood, it can be questioned that maybe Bill is right after all.

It was Cohn's steadiness at critical moments that defeated the British entry. He got plenty of help from Mr. Tilden's brilliant play without Cohn by Coughlin's aid.

The quarterfinal matches provided the best tennis that has been seen at Longwood in recent years. Cohn's match was a thriller with the possible exception of the last set, which was a straight-sets match.

Salem Faces Rugged Foe in So. Boston

By DICK McSWENEY

OF the three Twt League games carded tonight, two featuring the Salem and Rosindale teams are sure to draw large crowds, due to the position of these clubs in the second half race, although the Malden-Reading contest will receive its share of attention from fans in that section.

Salem faces a rugged foe in South Boston at C. J. Lee Playground. The Witch City team cannot afford to drop this encounter for the gap separating it from Rosindale is already too wide for comfort.

Rosindale collides with a tough foe in Quincy at the latter's grounds. The break of this week's schedule seem to be against Rosindale, but Manager Molen is not complaining.

Reading will oppose a team which held the Braves to a 6-4 tie and will have to move the slant of Eddie Cull, in the bargain, when Malden is entertained this evening.

Now for the first time A Premium Gasoline plus Ethyl

The already famous Socony Special now contains Ethyl fluid. You get a "zero knock rating" plus the highest-quality premium gasoline.

THE DEBATE about gasoline quality is settled. You can prove every statement in this advertisement by the simple method of buying ten gallons of gas and driving your car in and out of traffic, up and down hill.

A gasoline has been produced so different that you can feel the difference. These are the facts:

We began marketing Socony Special two years ago. It was the finest straight-run gasoline that could be made. Thousands of motorists discovered that it was better and gladly paid the extra cost.

We have taken this same Socony Special and done the one thing that could be done to make it perfect. We have added Ethyl fluid at extra cost to ourselves but no extra cost to you.

Ethyl fluid is the only preparation as yet

What ETHYL is
Ethyl fluid is the standard anti-knock compound, containing tetraethyl lead. It was developed in the General Motors Research Laboratories to meet the needs of the present-day high-compression motors.

Remember, it is the basic gasoline to which Ethyl fluid is added that determines the ultimate quality of an Ethyl gasoline. The Socony Special which you have been using was a superior high-compression gasoline. With the Ethyl fluid added, this new Socony Special will make old cars run like new cars, and will make new cars perform in a way that you have never known before.

SOCONY SPECIAL plus ETHYL FLUID equals THE BEST GASOLINE EVER PRODUCED

PROGRAMS FOR TODAY, TONIGHT ON THE RADIO

Many Features Are Listed by Boston and Distant Stations on Air

By BERT BURNHAM
Radio Editor

FOR those who crave variety in radio broadcasts, tonight's features leave nothing to be desired. From the works of great composers of opera the range leads down to modern jazz, and there is more to the diversity inclined as well as thrill for the lover of mood-creating drama.

SELECTIONS from four operas will be heard during the hour of Columbia program from WJAC, with John Barclay, Viola Adams, Ethel Codd and Flora Collins as soloists, supported by a mixed quartet, the Bolshoi, and a full symphony orchestra. The time of this broadcast is 10:30 o'clock.

"Evening Star" from Tannhauser, "Isabel Break Your Chains" from "Samson and Delilah," and a duet from the last act of "Aida," are the vocal numbers, while the orchestra will play the "Poland" from "Boris Godunov." The Bolshoi will perform "Tosca" and "Aida," and the orchestra will play the "Poland" from "Boris Godunov." The Bolshoi will perform "Tosca" and "Aida," and the orchestra will play the "Poland" from "Boris Godunov."

"Little Caesar," an epic of a gangland and gangsters, regarded by critics as the greatest of the undertone of the Boston Evening American. The story from the pen of W. B. Yeats is a true and gripping revelation of gang methods in Chicago. The first chapter of the serial appears today in the magazine section of this newspaper.

CAPTIVATING melodies that call up all the romance and mystery of Mother India, and her neighbors Sam and Arabians, up the "Around the World with Lily" program to be broadcast at 10:30 from WBZ. Two well-known favorites, "I'll Sing Three Songs of Arah" and "Ah, Moon of My Delight" will be sung by Willard Amann, tenor. The latter of these two favorites is from Liza Lehmann's musical setting of a poem by the bard of Omar Khayyam.

The program contains many atmospheric selections by the world's foremost composers that portray the spirit of the East. Also impressive selections that suggest the yet, the languorous life of the marketplace, the tranquility of a Persian garden and the religious fervor of the Moslem faith.

It is striking contrast will be the true Detective mystery presentation from WJAC and the Columbia Broadcasting system at 9 o'clock. The lumber port of Aberdeen, Wash., is the setting for this direct true-fact thriller. It is entitled, "It Beats The Third Degree," and was written by Capt. F. T. Haverly of the Los Angeles, Cal. detective bureau.

Ships of the seven seas visit Aberdeen, freighted with many a stranger cargo, but no stranger was ever seen than the Fleet of Finland, whose constant growing number taxed the ability of Police Dept. Slightly, however, he lightened the net of guilt about his quarry and in the end, from crime brought the murderer to justice. It promises to grip and thrill a large radio audience.

ROMANCE in music will be presented during the Duguesne program from WJAC at 10:30 o'clock.

TRAVEL TOURS HOTELS-RESORTS

Tourists for Fall Vacations

The combination of steam, motor coach and rail tours to Montreal, Quebec, White Mountain, the Adirondacks, St. Lawrence River, Ausable Chasm, Lake Champlain, Lake George, the Saguenay, the Thousand Islands, Niagara Falls and the Maine coast, offer a variety for autumn vacations. There are a few vacancies left on the 20 day tour under escort to Europe leaving on September 14.

All these trips and tours and various other combinations are described in the 12-page booklet, "Tourists for Fall Vacations," issued by Geo. E. Martens, Inc., 248 Washington St., Boston, Mass.

Frederick, N. H., Aug. 29—Striking evidence of the increased tourist travel by automobile to New Brunswick from the United States this season is furnished by the official records of the Canadian customs offices at the New Brunswick end of the international bridge across the St. Croix river.

The records show permits for long term stays issued for 9530 Americans across the bridge, as compared with 7400 for the same period in 1928.

August has, as predicted, proved a banner month for tourist travel. St. Stephen is the principal gateway for motor tourist traffic from the United States entering the Maritime Provinces, but reports to the New Brunswick Government Bureau of Information and Tourist Travel from the Woodstock, New Brunswick, station, indicate that the number of tourists entering the province is steadily increasing.
